

YOUNG SEIZES CHILD AT PIER

County Attorney of Hudson County Grabs the Baby as the Mother Is About to Sail with New Husband.

Once more has the child of Alexander Young, County Attorney of Hudson County, N. J., been carried away by its father. Young, armed with a writ of habeas corpus, went to the French line pier today and saw his former wife, who is now the wife of Alphonse Jorgers, the portrait painter, walking up the gangplank, leading her three-year-old daughter by the hand.

Young served the paper upon her. It commanded her to produce the little one. Mrs. Young, dressed in a white gown, came to the pier, and when she saw the attorney and the child, she turned and fled. Then Young grabbed the child and made off with it.

"I've got the baby anyhow," he cried. Mrs. Jorgers stood in perplexity on the gangplank. At the top of the plank stood her husband, a diminutive Dutchman, who was greatly excited. Out on the pier was her former husband with their child. She married Jorgers only yesterday.

Sailed Without Child.
He implored her to come on board the ship; she was impelled to run after Young and get the child. The ship was about to sail. At last she decided to go where her husband called and sailed away without the little one.

Mrs. Jorgers, the former Mrs. Young, was Louise D. Aubry McAllister, a niece of Yarn McAllister. She married in Hoboken in 1898, and the event was of some social importance. Mrs. Young, who had $250,000 in her own right, took the lead in Hoboken society, and all went merry as a marriage bell until about two years ago.

Mrs. Young made discoveries that caused her to leave her husband. She sued for divorce and secured a decree last August. By the terms of the decree she was awarded $75 a month alimony and the custody of the child six months in the year. Later she had the order amended giving her complete control of the child, a girl.

Young kidnapped the baby in Connecticut and Mrs. Young had to go to court to get him to give it back. Still he was not satisfied, and on Oct. 11 last, while his wife was living at the St. James apartment-house, No. 109 West Forty-fifth street, he stopped a nurse who had the child out walking and persuaded her to allow him to take the little one for a ride.

Again Seizes the Baby.
Young did not return the child, and Mrs. Young got a writ of habeas corpus compelling him to produce the offspring in the Supreme Court. After a stubborn contest Mrs. Young again secured possession of the little one.

There was a rumor at that time that Young and his wife had become reconciled and would remarry. Mrs. Young denied this and soon after her engagement to Mr. Jorgers was announced. The wedding yesterday was performed in the chantry of St. Thomas's Church, Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street.

Young did not know that she was married until he read it in the papers. He read, too, that she would sail to-day on the French line steamer, the Justine. Mrs. Jorgers opened court in Brooklyn Young got a writ of habeas corpus.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—City Treasurer Moore of this city, to-day received word from Baltimore informing him that Postmaster De Rouse, of Camden, N. J., was at the home of a friend in that city, having arrived there last night "in a bad physical and mental condition."

Treasurer Moore notified Congressman Loudenslager of Camden, and the latter started for Baltimore. Mr. Moore declined to make public the name of his informant.

SQUARE CIRCLE ENTERTAINS.

First Social Affair of New Organization a Success.

About thirty men in the employ of the Siegel-Cooper Company met last March to form a fishing club, and out of it has grown a social club, now having the mystic title of the Square Circle. The members of the firm are honorary members. It has a charter membership of eighty, and has adopted an initiation ritual with grip, password and obligation.

The officers are: President, Eugene Todd; First Vice-President, H. C. Du-Murphy; Recording Secretary, J. A. Logan; Corresponding Secretary, J. H. Koenig; Financial Secretary, H. Koenig; Treasurer, E. C. Cadden; Sergeant-at-Arms, J. J. Fitzgerald; Postmaster, R. F. Thompson; Trustees—M. V. Scott, W. D. Dick, W. P. Forester, W. R. M. N. D. McKenney, T. McKenney, N. D. McKenney and J. McKenney.

The Square Circle gave its first entertainment, reception and dance at the Harmon Casino, One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street and Seventh avenue, last evening. The programme was an interesting one. A reception and dance followed the entertainment. The affair was a big success. The proceeds will be used for the club-house.

BURSTING SHELL KILLS FOURTEEN

Lyddite Factory at Woolwich Arsenal, England, Is Wrecked by Explosion and Besides the Slain Many Are Hurt.

LONDON, June 18.—Fourteen men were killed outright and thirteen fatally injured yesterday by an explosion in the Lyddite factory at Woolwich Arsenal. Several of the victims were literally blown to fragments.

The roof of the factory was lifted high in the air. The walls collapsed and the entire building fell in a heap, burying the dead and dying.

The explosion was caused by the loading of a shell. All of the men in the shell-room were torn to pieces. The other dead and injured suffered their injuries in the wrecking of the building, from which escape was impossible.

The roar of the explosion was distinctly heard here in the borough of Woolwich and brought thousands of the Lyddite workers to the gates of the arsenal, all frantic with terror lest their relatives were among the killed.

There were many pathetic scenes in the great through which besieged the officials for information.

The wreck caused by the explosion

$15,000 FOR WOMAN HURT ON RAILROAD.

Miss Eunice L. Whitney Awarded Damages on Account of Peculiar Accident on Fast Train.

Miss Eunice L. Whitney, formerly of No. 15 Herkimer-street, Brooklyn, and now a resident of Castle Heights, Nyack, N. Y., was to-day awarded damages of $15,000 against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad by a jury before Justice Herkimer in Brooklyn.

While going to Utica on the Empire State Express, June 22, 1902, Miss Whitney was injured in a peculiar manner. Another passenger, a Miss Mason, placed a heavy telescope in a rack above Miss Whitney's head. The telescope tumbled from its perch, striking Miss Whitney on the head and causing confusion of the brain, from which serious spinal trouble resulted.

Miss Whitney was awarded the full amount for which she sued.
